Visual Identity

Logotype

This is the logo for Ross Nelson, Interactive Design student, illustrator and web designer. The logo is made up of two letters in lower case and a word mark. If it is placed in a frame, this should be circular.

Monogram

The monogram can suit many different colours and is versatile. The monogram can be black or white or from my chosen palette. Two colours can be used to complement or contrast one another, if desired. The area of freedom should be an extra 20%, giving the monogram room to stand out.

Monogram: 100%
Freedom area: 120%

Visual Marque

My personal visual marque is a lion's head, with a pen tool mane. The lion is an animal of strength, power and leadership, qualities I like to portray and the pen tool shows creativity and illustration.

Visual Marque

This visual mark is to be shown in black stroke on a white background. The only other colours to be used are from the chosen palette. A white stroke is never to be used. The area of freedom should be an extra 20% and it can be with the word mark only.

Freedom area: 120%

Logo and Wordmark Size

To insure its legability, the minimum reproduction size is 32 x 32mm for print. The size needs to be increased for web applications. For the wordmark and monogram together the dimensions are 83 x 42mm.

Monogram Colour

The monogram can suit many different colours and it is versatile. The monogram can be black or white or from the chosen palette. Two colours can be used to complement or contrast one another, if desired, and it must fit neatly in the centre.

The brand colours are provided in a HEX code format only.

Visual Elements

Typography / Word mark

The font used for my brand is Gotham Thin due to its simplicity and cleanliness. This sans serif font fits the brand well. The font size and weight can be altered if required but the preferred option is light. The bold option can be used for a heading.

There is no exact rules for size but size 48 pt is the maximum to be used for headings in bold. Sub-headings can be shown in a slightly smaller size. Body text can be lowered to 11 pt and italics can be used to emphasise.

Fonts for Word Mark

These fonts can be used for the wordmark, headings and any other text, whenever Gotham Thin is not available. They can be weighted, as necessary to suit the brief. The maximum point size should not be limited, however the preferred maximum is 48 pt and minimum 11 pt.
